

How nice it was to have a reprieve from those invading telemarketers. Having a day off was becoming a chore, since I would have to constantly get up to answer their calls. And there is talk of allowing this happen again? Where are my rights? Sorry, but let the telemarketers find another job, and leave me alone.